

ONS Custom Governance Code
Community Announcement
June 2, 2020

Thank you for participating in the membership survey. Your contributions are important and will all be considered in drafting ONS's Governance Code. The draw for cash prizes will happen shortly, after all of the survey responses have been collected and reviewed.

Right now, we are gathering the results of the survey you completed. We may need to get additional information and input from you, as our community members, as we move forward with creation a draft Governance Code. This is an important process and it is very important that at each step we consider the guidance and direction we are receiving from our members and how those directions can be written into a Governance Code that works for Ojibway Nation of Saugeen.

Once a draft Governance Code is ready, we will put that Governance Code to a vote. The community will decide, through that vote, whether to accept the Governance Code that we the Working Group have drafted. This vote on the Governance Code will not happen before June 30th, 2020. Once a date is selected, we will let all ONS members know about the date and how to vote.

We want to keep you informed and to make sure you can vote on the draft Governance Code. Please send your contact information to any member of the working group (Eileen Keesic, Desiree Jacko, Ron Machimity, or Norma Machimity) as soon as possible, so you can be informed about the details of the ratification vote.

Miigwech for your help in building the ONS Governance Code.
